Plexus Law Appoints New Professional Indemnity Partners

Plexus Law, part of the Parabis Group, is delighted to announce the appointment of two new Partners within its highly successful professional indemnity and commercial risk team based in London.

Simon Beckwith and Mark Ratcliff both qualified as Barristers before qualifying as Solicitors and join Plexus from Squire & Co, bringing with them a combined experience of over 30 years.

Simon has a broad range of experience covering most non-medical professionals, however he specialises in financial services disputes and claims against financial advisers and insurance brokers. Additionally, Simon is co-author of the financial advisers chapter in Professional Negligence and Liability (LLP – Lloyds loose leaf text). Likewise, Mark's professional indemnity experience includes most categories of non-medical professional. He also has extensive experience of D&O, reinsurance and a wide range of coverage disputes.

The Plexus Professional Indemnity and Commercial Risk team of over 50 specialist lawyers acts for professionals of all types and sizes and their insurers, providing a proactive no-nonsense approach to the delivery of legal and business advice and the provision of claims services.

Commenting on the appointments Peter Court, Partner and Team Leader said:

" We are delighted that two such highly regarded Lawyers have relocated their practices to Plexus. Their extensive experience will ensure that we continue the strong growth we have achieved over the last 5 years. "
